RAMS WIN FIRST EVER SUPER BOWL XIV 31-28 OVER CHARGERS!

SUPER BOWL XIV MVP Ricky Proel was 3-124, sprints for a 55-yard TD reception. Proehl had two major first downs giving on 3rd down conversions, as the Rams their first Super Bowl title ever!

May 26, 2019. (Pasadena, California). This Long Island Electric Football League brought the battle for Los Angeles bragging rights between the relentless LIEFL #11-Ranked NFC West Los Angeles Rams (8-1) (76-80 All-Time), and the emerging LIEFL #14-Ranked Los Angeles Chargers at (8-2) (73-69 All-Time).

These two teams left all of their energy in the Conference Championships and then made the trip across town to Pasadena, California to meet at the Granddaddy of them all, The Rose Bowl!

Distractions can get in the way when you're too close to home. While it was not the fireworks type game it was expected to be, Long Island's Electric Football Super Bowl XIV, was a spectacular opener with Los Angeles Rams Isaac Bruce taking back a scorching 100-yard kickoff return to start the game, giving the Los Angeles Rams a 7-0 explosive start!

With the #1 defense in the NFL, the Rams built-tough defense proved to be just enough to win the game of inches with the Chargers. The Rams surprised everyone this season by finding ways to overcome a challenging schedule just edging the LIEFL #9-Ranked New York Giants, who finished the season as the NFC East Champions at (5-2) (81-70 All-Time), 34-31 in a NFC Divisional Championship Game thriller! In the NFC Championship Game, the Los Angeles Chargers exploded on the LIEFL #28-Ranked Carolina Panthers (6-1) (29-27) 45-31, in a powerful display of teamwork, shutting down a tough Panther defense.

Both of these teams got here through teamwork. After winning the AFC West, the cross-town rival Los Angeles Chargers, who tied the LIEFL #21-Ranked Indianapolis Colts (5-2) (64-57 All-Time), with the #2 offense in the AFC this season, beat the LIEFL Baltimore Ravens (4-3) (29-28-All-Time) 35-17, then Indianapolis 44-38 in the AFC Divisional Championship Game and finally, in the AFC Championship Game they whipped the LIEFL #31-Ranked Tennessee Titans (6-2) (21-18 All-Time).

The Chargers amped up their offense with the score 7-0 Rams in Super Bowl XIV. Chargers LaDainian Tomlinson, who had 22 for 382 all-purpose yards for three touchdowns on the day, drove down the field with that Chargers powerful offense for a 12-yard touchdown run tying the game at 7-7 against the Rams. That Chargers frontline led by Earl Faison played very well against the Rams line anchored by Chris Long, but the Rams got a taste of Tomlinson who pushed his game plan with a respectable 17-

190 yards rushing, and three TD's on that Rams front line who had their hands full with the superstar.

Super Bowl XIV was a total team effort for the Rams who have played strategic, mixing up the play coverage with short passes and explosive opportunistic runs. They found any weakness possible in the trenches against the Chargers. Eric Dickerson, the silent but deadly running back came out of the woodworks as he broke out with two critical touchdowns receptions of 39 and 29 yards, and Super Bowl XIV MVP Ricky Proehl, had a key 55-yard touchdown reception and two more key first downs pushing the Chargers to the Limit.

The Rams did a lot of their damage in the second and the fourth quarters with Eric Dickerson's and Ricky Proehl touchdowns on 3rd down conversions. The Chargers played a great game but ran out of time and time outs with 1:33 left in the game when Wendell Tyler ran around the left side to the 8 yard line of the Chargers on a 13-yard run setting up the thrilling game-winning field goal for the Rams with 10 seconds left in the game. The Chargers, who held the Rams Tyler to 38 yards rushing on the day let one slip away.

In the end it was that opening kick-off by Isaac Bruce set the tone for the Los Angeles Rams, and it was the game buster of the day. Bruce had five kick returns for 265 yards and one touchdown carrying over from the Carolina Panthers and Rams destruction of them. The Chargers will be back and proved that they are a team with character who can play on any given Sunday against any team in the LIEFL. Lance Alsworth had 4 great tackles in the game for the Chargers, and the Chargers defense was as much a nuisance to the Rams. Tomlinson played his soul out for the Chargers, but the key to the game was special teams and teamwork.

Both teams prevented this game from being an all-out high scoring game by not allowing big set up plays for the team's offenses. Both teams earned every yard! It's back to the drawing board for the LIEFL draft to see who will make the show next year for Super Bowl XV!

The Los Angeles Rams win their first Super Bowl ever beating the outstanding Los Angeles Chargers 31-28!
